

Symba

We were so very close, we two but I had to let you go I hope that you can understand it was because I loved you so.

No more pain, no aching limbs no earthly ties that bind No dimming eyes, no sleepless nights you've left them all behind

Sometimes when I'm all alone,
I feel you by my side,
As if to try and comfort me, through all the nights I've cried

I thought I saw you here today,
out the corner of my eye, Felt soft black fur against my skin, heard the faintest sigh.

So wait for me at Rainbow Bridge Until we meet once more then we will walk together again through Heaven's open door...
